

ERASTUS WYMAN
STILL IN A CELL.

Farmer Millionaire Is Under Serious Charges.

R. G. DUNN &amp; CO. SAY THAT HE STOLE $229,000.

For a Time He Was their New York Manager and Nominal Partner—In That Time He Is Alleged to Have Executed Forgeries for Large Sums.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Erastus Wyman looked jaded this morning after a night in Murderers Row. He refused to talk, but the chance of conviction for defrauding R. G. Dunn & Co. out of $200,000 seemed to weigh heavily upon him. Wyman who was formally normal but not an active partner in the firm of Dunn, Wyman & Co., was arrested last evening and locked up in the Tombs on charges of forgery and embezzlement. The complaint on which the arrest was made alleges that in the last four years preceding 1893, when Wyman's connection with the firm ceased, he embezzled $229,018 and forged two checks for nearly $10,000.

CONTROL THE BANKS.

Senator Manderson's New Scheme Is Now Before the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Senator Manderson has introduced a bill providing for the examination of the methods of business of national banks. No examiner is allowed to be a director or officer of any banking association under federal law. Assessments are made on the banks for the expense of examination. No officer, except directors who are not other officers, is allowed to become indebted to the institution in excess of 5 per cent of the paid-up capital. All money paid into the treasury under existing United States bank laws, not otherwise appropriated, shall be converted into a national bank fund, to be available to pay losses by depositors. In banking associations organized under United States laws whose affairs may be placed in the hands of receivers. On deposit of bonds, notes may be received from the comptroller equal in amount to the market value of the bonds, but not exceeding par value. A duty of 1/4 of 1 per cent every six months on the amount of circulation is provided.

FORCING A QUORUM.

Only Seven Members of the House Unaccounted for Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Only seven of 354 members of the house were unaccounted for when that body met yesterday and the indications were that the prolonged deadlock would be broken before sundown. After the reading of the journal Sergeant-at-Arms Snow came forward with a supplementary report on the order instructing him to arrest absentees. He reported all but seven members here or on their way, except such as had been excused on account of illness, and that deputies had been sent for the others.

"I would like to know," suggested Mr. Reed, "whether a deputy has been sent after Mr. Johnson of Cleveland? He appears to be recalcitrant."

The sergeant-at-arms stated that Mr. Johnson had been sent for. Mr. Reed further wanted to know whether those members who were here were under arrest. On being informed that they were not, he desired to know why. The sergeant-at-arms expressed doubt as to his authority to arrest members on the floor, but the speaker directed him to execute his writ and arrest wherever members were found.

Mr. Bland asked unanimous consent that those members present be excused, but Mr. Reed objected.

The vote on the second rollcall on Mr. Bland's seigniorage bill was: Yeas, 157; nays, 10—twelve less than a quorum. Mr. Reed made an effort to induce Mr. Bland to permit the house to proceed with debate, but failed.

The vote again recurred on Mr. Bland's demand for the previous question on the seigniorage bill. Again the quorum failed—157 to 4—the smallest vote of the day, and upon the announcement Mr. Bland moved that the house adjourn, which was carried, 140 to 97.

SENATE AFTER OLNEY.

Wants to Know If He Has Declared Silver Certificates Not Legal Tender.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—In the senate yesterday Senator Allen of Nebraska presented a resolution directing the attorney general to inform the senate whether in an opinion to the secretary of the treasury he had held that silver certificates are not legal money and, if so, to transmit the opinion, with all correspondence, to the senate. The resolution, after slight amendment, was adopted.

A sharp discussion followed a question of privilege raised by Senator Voorhees in regard to a publication in the Philadelphia Press to the effect that the democratic members of the finance committee had been receiving suggestions and directions from the President as to the course to be observed in dealing with the new tariff bill. Senator Voorhees denied the accuracy of the statements made.

WHAT KILLED CRONIN.

Attorney Donahoe Analyzes the Evidence of Experts.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Mr. Donahoe resumed his argument in the Coughlin case yesterday. He laid great stress on the fact that medical experts had testified they were unable to ascertain the exact cause of death and were unable to tell whether the wounds found on the body of Dr. Cronin were inflicted before or after death. He claimed that the state had not proved that Dr. Cronin had been murdered. He afterward went deeply into the evidence given by Mrs. Foy, claiming that it could not be relied upon. His speech is not thought to have had a very great effect on the jury, as the testimony of medical experts is generally ridiculed.

TO LYNCH STUDENTS

Cornell University Sophomores Are In Trouble.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 22.—Thomas McNeill of Pittsburg, one of the Cornell freshmen who were poisoned with gas by sophomores Monday night, died at 10 o'clock yesterday. This is the second human life which has been sacrificed to the so-called sport of the upper-class men. The first was that of Mrs. Jackson, a negro, employed as a cook by the students, who expired shortly after midnight.

The murderous folly of the university sophomores has created intense excitement and indignation throughout the city as well as in the college cloisters. There is an air of gloom over the famous old university. The authorities are investigating the affair and have already suspended several sophomores, and the city officials are taking a hand in the matter. It is probable now that the perpetrators of the hazing will have to stand trial on a charge of murder. None of them, however, has yet been arrested and the citizens are so extraordinarily worked up over the affair, which they universally consider a diabolical outrage, that there is earnest and general talk of lynching the murderers. But so far there has been no attempt to take steps so grave.

The outrage occurred in the large hall of the university masonic societies at 10 o'clock last night. The freshmen had arranged a parade and supper, and expected that the sophomores would attempt to prevent them from marching from the college hall, which has been the scene of many fights between classes, and the banquet hall. Every member of the Ithaca police force was on duty in the principal street through which the parade passed, and a dozen or more were grouped about the door of the banquet hall.

Just as the freshmen reached the hall a crowd of sophomores broke into the lines of the paraders and a lively free for all followed. Some of the freshmen were roughly handled before the local police force broke up the rush of the "sophs." While the policemen were driving the attacking party away the freshmen surged into the hall and locked the doors. They thought the trouble was over and sat around the banquet table enjoying a feast of dainties and indulging in glee songs and jokes.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Mrs. Jackson, who was employed as cook by an Ithaca caterer, failed to respond to the demands of the students for a new supply of food. She was in one of the ante-rooms used as a kitchen leading off from the main hall. Two of the feasting students were sent to find out the trouble.

When they opened the door of the kitchen a suffocating odor of gas and a cloud of vapor flooded into the banquet hall, and at almost the same instant students at the other end of the room were overcome by a strong odor of gas that seemed to come from the floor. The students were panicked and made a rush for the door leading into the street. Three or four of the men were unable to move and others had fallen to the floor.

The odor of gas was stifling and it was with difficulty that the freshmen who were not entirely overcome reached the street. When they did so and recovered from the effects of the gas they rushed back into the hall and dragged out six of their fellow students who were prostrate on the floor. The students who were overcome were taken to a neighboring drug store and restoratives applied. They all recovered with the exception of McNeill. The others will recover.

It was at first thought that a gaspipe in the hall had burst, but an examination of the place made by the police revealed a deadly plot on the part of the sophomores. The police discovered on a table in the cellar a large earthen jug corked. In the cork were two rubber tubes, which ran nearly up to the ceiling, where they were connected with two glass tubes. These tubes ran through the holes in the floor, thus liberating in the room above the gas generated from the jug, which was found to be chlorine, a mixture of salt and sulphuric acid. All the sophomores were questioned and denied any knowledge of the plot, but the names of those who are responsible are known to the authorities.

G. A. R. Men at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 22.—The Grand Army man has taken the city and on every hand the honored uniform or the little bronze button and official badge are to be seen. SEE BUSINESS BOOM SAYS GENERAL DOE.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY BACK FROM WASHINGTON.

Times Are as Good as Anybody Could Expect, the General Declares—Says the Senate Will Amend the Wilson Bill in Many Important Particulars.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 22.—Joseph B. Doe, assistant secretary of war, is in town, wearing precisely the same suave and slightly humorous expression on his face that he was wont to present to the public when he was a plain, every-day lawyer.

In reply to questions this afternoon he said that there was no doubt of the passage of the Wilson bill by the senate, but that the prospect was that it would be amended, especially in the items of sugar, iron ore and probably lumber.

"Business is improving all over the country," he said, "despite the efforts of partisan newspapers to conceal the fact, and it looks now as though the country would get over the panic of 1893 quicker than it ever recovered from a similar one."

"I have not looked over the political field in Wisconsin of late but can see no reason why the people should not vote to continue the democratic party in power. Every pledge made has been kept, and despite the desperate efforts of the opposition to get some kind of a personal issue to detract attention from the treasury cases and kindred acts to the credit of our party, I believe the people are not to be deceived."

Matador Killed by a Mad Bull.

SALTILLO, Mexico, Feb. 22.—The bull fighting festivities at Moneto were attended with another fatality yesterday. One of the bulls made a quick and vicious attack upon Jose Barrera, the matador, and before he could evade the enraged animal he was thrown to the ground and gored to death.

Sales to the amount of $20,000 were made yesterday soon after opening at 117 1/2, which is about equal to the upset price of 117 1/2, with the interest added.

Big Strike Averted.

PUEBLO, Colo., Feb. 22.—A general strike of the 1,500 men employed at the steel works of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company in Pueblo was averted last night by the employees of the converting department accepting a wage reduction of 46 per cent, as offered by the management. The men in the other departments will fall in line.

Populists' Committee to Meet.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 22.—H. E. Taubeneck, chairman of the national central committee of the populist party, arrived at the Lindell hotel last night to attend the meeting of the National Central Committee and Reform Press association to be held here to-day. He said: "It is the National Central Committee and Reform Press association which are to meet and not a convention. There will be three delegates here from each state besides the representatives of the Reform Press association. The meeting will be executive and I cannot say what will be done."

Train Wreckers Fail.

FINDLAY, Ohio, Feb. 22.—Attempts were made at McComb, ten miles northwest of here, last night to wreck the fast east-bound train on the Nickel Plate. A pile of ties was placed on the track half a mile west of town. The obstruction was observed by a 10-year-old girl, who flagged the passenger train in time to prevent its destruction.

WALL WOULD LIKE TO QUIT THE JOB.

BOSS SCENTS DEMOCRATIC DEFEAT THIS FALL.

Disgusted With the Imbecility of the Roster Jobbers He Does Not Care to Lead His Party to Practically Certain Defeat—Murphy May Succeed Him.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 22.—It is becoming generally known that "Boss" E. C. Wall, scenting defeat for his party in this state next fall, desires to retire from the chairmanship of the central committee in favor of some one else and quit while his record as a party leader is good. He has less confidence than some of his associates in the possibility of the solid Catholic vote electing the Wisconsin democratic candidates next fall. He is also reported to have said to a local politician that he feared the Lutheran vote. It is possible that Mr. Wall would, under the circumstances, be willing to see his arch enemy, Collector Murphy, elevated to the leadership of the party in the next campaign.

Chairman Wall has never made much effort to suppress the disgust he felt for the imbecility of the Peck-O'Connor-Bashford crowd in undertaking the disgraceful roster case jobbery.

FAVOR LOCAL OPTION.

The Iowa Republicans Perfect the Carpenter Bill.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 22.—The subcommittee of the senate on suppression of intemperance has perfected the Carpenter local option bill and a conference of the republican members of the committee was called for 9 o'clock last night to pass upon the bill. Cities or counties of 4,000 population are made an election district. If the voters decide to permit the sale of liquors a bond of $3,000 is required and the annual fee is fixed at $500, of which $250 is to go to the city, $200 to the county, and $50 to the state. Similar provisions are provided for revoking license.

No games are to be allowed and saloons must be kept closed Sunday and election days. The bill provides for the appointment of a state liquor inspector at a salary of $2,000.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 22.—Gov. Jackson of Iowa, in a private letter, states that if the Iowa legislature does not repeal or modify the prohibitory law so as to afford relief for the river counties he will call the legislature in extra session for that purpose.

Kearsarge Crew Reaches New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The steamer City of Para, having on board the officers and crew of the famous old warship Kearsarge, which now lies on a coral shoal called Roncador reef, where she ran on Feb. 2, arrived off quarantine to-day from Colon. They tell the story of the wreck substantially as it has been told in previous dispatches.

In answer to a question as to the possibility of raising and saving the Kearsarge, Admiral Stanton said: "There is no possible chance of saving her. She was all stove in when she struck the reef and when we left her she was almost full of water. Even if this were not the case, the weather is such down there that it is very difficult to work on account of the blistering sun."

McBride's View of the Situation.

MASSILLON, Ohio, Feb. 22.—John McBride, president of the United Mine Workers, is on the ground directing the movements of the 3,000 locked-out miners and preparing the miners' case for the joint conference Friday. A local reduction in the Massillon district, Mr. McBride said, would be almost immediately followed by a demand from the operators elsewhere for a further reduction of 15 cents, thus re-establishing the differential, leaving the case relatively the same, but with the miners working at prices that would almost make idleness preferable.

Railway Managers Meet.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Feb. 22.—A secret meeting was held yesterday by the general managers of the Chicago & Ohio river lines, with a view to restore the freight pool arrangement which was broken last September by the withdrawal of the Big Four. The prospect of success is good.

The losses are well covered by insurance. The city hall was considerably damaged. Watchman Sullivan of the incubator company was so nearly suffocated by smoke, his escape being cut off by flames, that he was taken from the third floor unconscious. He was soon revived.

STORM IN THE WEST.

Many Passengers Delayed—Heavy Snow in Several States.

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 22.—The thermometer fell to 7 degrees below zero yesterday and snow fell all day. The storm is reported to extend from the Missouri river to the western side of the range and from Cheyenne to New Mexico. The snow is three inches deep here, but has not yet interrupted railway traffic.

PUEBLO, Colo., Feb. 22.—The snow storm which began Monday night has continued all day yesterday and extended throughout the southern portion of the state. Trains are hours late and snow plows have been sent out to open the mountain passes if possible. Street cars were kept moving with difficulty.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 22.—The Central Pacific railroad company announces that trains have at last got through the mountains after one of those exceptionally severe storms which are occasionally encountered in the Sierra Nevadas. Two miles of railroad snow sheds and galleries were crushed in by the immense weight of the snow which came down upon them. These galleries, which are built at great expense, are of enormous strength, and constructed in such way as to carry snow over the road and down the mountain sides. Galleries have generally been sufficient for this purpose, but in the late storm resistless avalanches crushed them like egg shells, causing a complete blockade of the lines.

RENO, Nev., Feb. 22.—Between 300 and 400 passengers are delayed here. Last night 100 or more made a demand on Agent Fields for food while blocked. The demand was not complied with, although the company is furnishing all destitute passengers with meal tickets. All freight trains are held at Wadsworth.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—There was a largely increased attendance at the convention of the Illinois News association at the Lexington hotel yesterday morning.

The meeting was opened by Gen. Smith D. Atkins of the Freeport Journal in a brilliant speech replete with humor. One gentleman, he said, had advised him to denounce the degeneracy of the times. He, however, denied the accuracy of this inference and declared that the present times were infinitely better than they had ever been in past generations, and this tendency was constantly upward.

Girls Pass Counterfeit Money.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 22.—The detectives are still at work trying to unearth the gang of counterfeiters who are flooding Omaha and the neighboring towns with bogus coin. A girl named Carrie Hart was arrested yesterday and has been identified by several merchants as the girl who had passed counterfeit dollars on them in a business way. The girl claims that if the money was bad she did not know it, and that it was given to her in change. Carrie Hart's mother called on her in the jail and cautioned her not to talk.

BRECKENRIDGE AHEAD.

Miss Pollard's Case Much Weakened By Flat Denials.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 22.—The attorneys for Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge yesterday decided to hear only one witness. "Squire Tinsley, at whose house, Witness Hawkins swore, at Lexington, the mock marriage occurred between Miss Pollard and Alex. Julien, wanted to go on the stand and flatly deny any knowledge of any immoral conduct in his household. The action of the defense in weakening here is quite unexplained, as it has been claimed that a bad character would be proved for Miss Pollard in her childhood home.

BOMB ON A BRIDGE.

Attempt to Blow Up the Causeway at Lancaster, Pa.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 22.—An attempt was made last night to blow up the Cherry street bridge over the Pennsylvania railroad. The instrument used was a bomb made of gaspise, sections of which were found embedded in the superstructure of the bridge, twenty-five feet from the point of the explosion. The bridge is not badly damaged. There is great excitement over the affair, as it is only a month since a huge dynamite bomb was found under the foundation of a big four-story building adjoining the police station. The fuse was lighted, but was defective and failed to explode.

GEN. EARLY MORE FEEBLE.

Relatives Believe He Has Not Many Days to Live.

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 22.—The latest advices from Lynchburg are that the chances are against the recovery of Gen. Early. Yesterday he was too feeble to dress himself and his mind wandered somewhat. ## WHEAT AT 45 CENTS SICKENS FARMERS.

DISCOURAGING PRICES PAID AT LOCAL MILLS.

Democratic Good Times Not as Good as Some of the Campaign Orators Have Declared—Wheat Fit For Milling Sent Back to Be Used a Feed.

Forty-five cent wheat! Just think of it! Is it any wonder that farmers are discouraged and bemoan their hard lot? At the mills in Janesville last week many bushels of wheat were bought at prices so low that the buyers were made fairly sick at heart.

"Have it ground up for feed," they advised and not a few followed the recommendation. "And it was very fair wheat too," said one of the millers subsequently, "and I have made flour out of much worse—good flour at that."

"In all my experience," said a miller of democratic tendencies, "I never saw wheat so low. Our regular price, of course, is about four cents below Chicago so we have been paying during the last week anywhere from forty-five to fifty cents for the grade of wheat received here. At these prices there is a very narrow margin in it for us. I'd rather grind dollar wheat any time than fifty cent wheat. There's more in it. But when it gets down lower than that, even, it's awful. When it comes to selling for forty-five cents farmers could do better to grind their wheat into feed than to sacrifice it in that way. I dislike to deal in it when such prices prevail; but I'm much worse than the growers feel! It is a discouraging time for farmers, and I shall be glad when it is at last over. I'm afraid tariff reform hasn't been as good a thing for the farmers as we hoped."

These prices are reported by Frank Gray as prevailing in the Janesville market during the last six days.

OBSERVATIONS BY JERE MURPHY

Perchance Chairman Wall, on his few months vacation away from the state, is accompanied by Mr. Clancey's memory.

If our genial friend Assistant Attorney General Clancey could forgive as well as he forgets he would have christian spirit to sell.

Attorney Bashford neglected to explain whether or not he based his opinion that Col. Clark was that kind of a scoundrel solely upon the decision in the Sholes case.

The Milwaukee Journal will have plenty of time to select a republican candidate for governor next fall after it has found a democratic candidate for mayor of Milwaukee this coming spring.

It is no bold flattery to say that Assistant Attorney General Clancey has forgotten more about the starting of the Madison Times and the raising of money by Colonel Clark than Colonel Vilas ever knew.

Of course Attorney General O'Connor could have no reason to suppose that Governor Peck was going to place a $57,000 order upon a contract which the attorney general was satisfied protected the interests of the state only on a $9,500 order.

The Milwaukee Journal, in asking what the anti-Wall democrats of the Congressmen Somers variety are doing with reference to the approaching municipal campaign in Milwaukee, recalls the fact that several of them are standing off Boss Wall in his efforts to assess them for his campaign purposes—Madison Journal.

NEW EXPRESS TRANSFER HOUSE

Improvement That Will Add Greatly to the American's Facilities.

The American Express Company are going to add to their Janesville facilities by the enlarging of the depot transfer house, so that they will get service on every passenger train that leaves Janesville. Heretofore they have been handicapped by the fact that the transfer house was not large enough to permit the storing of much goods therein between trains, and nearly all the merchandise handled had to be taken to the office. This prevented its being gotten back to the depot in time for shipment on certain trains. The transfer house will be enlarged to about 25x30 feet which will give them ample facilities. Superintendent W. G. Smith of Milwaukee was in town this afternoon in consultation with Agent C. P. McLean on the subject. The transfer house is located just west of the C. & N. W. passenger depot. The new arrangement will allow the company to use five trains that have not been utilized before, nearly all the "short runs" being included.

FLAGS AFLOAT OVER THE TOWN.

Washington's Birthday Brings Out a Display of Red, White and Blue.

"Up goes 'Old Glory,'" remarked General Sherman as he watched the boys in blue advancing on the rebel works at Savannah and the rebel flags had been torn down and the stars and stripes pulled to the top of the staff on the fort. "Old Glory" is floating proudly in Janesville today, but the starry field is much different than it was when Washington saluted it one hundred years ago. Then there were only thirteen stars in the field, now there are forty-four.

A Humpback Whale.

A citizen of South Bend, Wash., has a humpback whale on his hands which is proving a worse incumbrance than the traditional elephant, not alone to himself, but to the whole community. The whale became stranded at the mouth of the river and the enterprising citizen bought from the fisherman who captured it and made some money by placing it on exhibition. But the whale died and after awhile it became very dead and the owner can't dispose of it. He tried, as a last resort, to burn it and spent his profits on wood and kerosene, but the whale won't burn. The town is pervaded by an extremely ancient, fishlike smell, and the citizens are urgent in their demands that the owner of the whale shall remove his property in some expeditious way.

CONGRESS DOES NOTHING.

Last summer the senate spent months of time in reaching final action on the silver bill, and the finance committee of that body has been engaged many weeks in considering the tariff bill, without reaching any conclusion up to the present time as to when it will be presented to the senate. The house too has been tied up for many days on the Bland seal-orange bill. When the extra session was called last summer democratic papers predicted that a tariff bill would be ready for presentation to the house at the time the session ended, that it would be sent to the senate by the holiday recess, and that it would be passed in that body and signed by the president in time to go into effect on March 1.

But the soothsayers are all at sea now in regard to the time when the tariff bill will reach the president. It may be presented to the senate before

February ends, but very few persons are rash enough to predict that it will.

And even if it should be taken up by that body before March opens, when is it likely to pass?

LET US KNOW THE WORST.

Uncertainty paralyzes the business energies of the country. Trade in many of its most important branches is menaced by the tariff bill, but no body is able to tell how fierce the assault will be or what particular points of the business line will be assailed.

During all this time congress spends its time in trifling and dawdling. Deadlocks and factional wrangles in the dominant party are the order of the day. Weeks of time of vital consequence to the financial interests of the people are wasted. The country is anxious to know the worst at the earliest possible moment, so that business may make the adjustments necessary to put it into conformity with the changed conditions, but congress shirks, shifts and dodges, and the suspense regarding where and when the blow is to fall blights industry and enterprise.

Chairman Wall has reached Washington and informed a correspondent that he is simply worn out and resting.

The Madison Journal suggests this will be news in Wisconsin where there is quite a general impression that the boss has simply been found out and is dodging.

Examination of the testimony of various defendants in the roster case leads the Madison Journal to warn state officials that this is the anniversary of the birthday of the lamented George Washington.

The one hundred and sixty thousand plurality that Pennsylvania rolled up for Ex-Speaker Grow for congressman at-large, is a wholesome reminder to the Cleveland "tariff reformers" of what is in store for them in ninety-six.

Talk about "having 'em licked!"

Why, the Recorder is so far gone that it lays the business depression in Janesville to the fact that Janesville has a republican mayor and council.

CLARK FORGETS VERY READILY.

LOAN OF STATE FUNDS HELPED THE TIMES.

Cornered By Attorney Olin on His Registering in Madison Hotels and Milwaukee Under Assumed Names—Private Conference With Gov. Peck a Few Days Ago.

Colonel C. L. Clark's examination in Milwaukee showed him to have a memory the most unique of all the unique ones which the roster case has discovered. A few important facts Colonel Clark was able to recall after Attorney Olin had forcibly reminded him of them. Among these was the fact that Senator Mitchell had loaned him $10,000, for which he gave the senator his note and some Times stock besides. He was compelled to remember also that he had borrowed $8,000 from Banker Woodward, of Clinton, and that on the same day Woodward asked him why his (Woodward's) bank could not be made a state depository, and that he (Clark) had advised Woodward to make an application. Another fact Clark had difficulty in recalling was that he had met and had a talk with Governor Peck in the Journal office one day last week.

Evidence of the Conspiracy. Clark's attorney, Mr. Winans, objected to the questions which brought out the fact of his having met Governor Peck, but Mr. Olin insisted that the question was proper inasmuch as the prosecution was beginning to prove that there had been a conspiracy in the roster contract matter.

It was evident from Clark's testimony that he was determined to admit nothing which he could possibly keep to himself, but Olin's adroit and persistent questioning brought out a good deal that is of special interest. In regard to the borrowing of the money from Banker Woodward, despite the objections made by Mr. Winans, Olin got out the fact that Clark gave Woodward a note for the $8,000; that the note was dated June 2 but that Clark did not get the money until June 11, and that between June 2 and June 11 Woodward's bank was made a state depository.

"Did you ask Mr. Clancy to go on Woodward's bond?" asked Mr. Olin. "I probably did."

"Did you not know that if there was any default Clancy would be compelled to sue himself, being an officer of the state?"

"It never occurred to me," replied Clark.

Clark Protects General Doe. Further questioning brought out the fact that Clark busied himself between June 2 and June 11 in having Woodward's bank made a state depository, having Woodward's application in his possession and being active in getting signers for it.

Whatever may be Clark's relations at the present time to the other defendants in the case, he seems to desire to protect General Doe. He objected to saying that he was intimate with General Doe and dodged the point with great skill.

Immediately following his questions about the meeting with Governor Peck last week Mr. Olin startled Clark by asking:

"Do you remember registering at the Park hotel at about 10 o'clock on the night of November 3 under an assumed name?"

"I do not."

The colonel was at last forced to admit that he had been in Madison on or about the date mentioned, and Mr. Olin sought to refresh his memory by calling to his attention the fact that he had arrived at Madison late at night and registered as "Mr. Jones," had paid his bill in advance, and left again on an early morning train, but Mr. Clark could not recall one of the circumstances. Still he would not swear that he had not done all these things.

Neither Drunk Nor Insane. "How is it, Mr. Clark, that you can't remember any better? Was there anything wrong with you?" asked Mr. Olin.

"Not that I know of."

"You are not a drinking man? You were not drunk?"

"I don't think I am what you might call a drinking man, and I don't think I was drunk."

"You were in your right mind?"

"I think I was."

"Still you can't remember anything about it?"

"I have no recollection about it."

Colonel Clark would not admit that he registered under an assumed name at any other place, but he would not swear that he had not registered so at Milwaukee. If he had done so it was at the St. Charles where he had always stayed in Milwaukee.

Sunk $21,000 of Borrowed Money. Incidentally in the testimony the history of the inception and development of the Madison Times enterprise came out and it was shown that Clark went into the enterprise with virtually no money of his own, yet was able to borrow $10,000 from Senator Mitchell and $8,000 from the Banker Woodward. Clark's attorney fought hard against questions concerning Clark's financial condition at the time he started the paper, but his objections were overruled and Clark told how $21,000 had been sunk in the Times, the most of which was borrowed money.

In telling why he had started the paper Clark said the plan had suggested itself to him when he had heard that the Democrat would support Harrison if Hill were not nominated, and he thought it would be a good thing to have a paper there to support Mr. Cleveland. He at first said that he was satisfied with the Democrat as far as the administration was concerned, but later it came out that he had been dissatisfied with its treatment of the administration.

Were After the Democrat.

Mr. Winans objected to any questions along that line, but Mr. Olin said it was necessary in showing the motives of the defendants in the conspiracy which he was trying to unearth. Mr. Olin tried to show that an intent to ruin the Democrat was a part of the conspiracy.

Colonel Clark's remarkable memory did not help him to many facts. He could not remember what had become of the subscription paper on which money was raised to start the Times. He did not know who signed it.

He could not tell what had become of the money, notwithstanding he was treasurer and general manager of the company. He did not know what had become of the books. He had not seen them since he left Madison, and had not the slightest knowledge of their whereabouts. He had been subpoenaed to produce the books, but had not done so. He did not "think" he had tried to find the books. Finally he admitted that possibly he had not made the effort.

UNION OF THE LOCAL Y. P. S. C. E.
Much Work Among Young People Planned for the Coming Year.

The executive committee of the local union of Christian Endeavor met at the Y. M. C. A. rooms last night. Frank Spoon, president of the Union, called the meeting to order, all the committee except one being present. The committee consists of the president from each society and a secretary and treasurer. Great enthusiasm was manifested on the subject of good citizenship and the discussion resulted in definite arrangements for a union meeting, April 1st, when the above topic will be presented. A programme committee was appointed for the special meeting and also a permanent programme committee for the year. General meetings of the Union will be held each quarter. The outlook is good for the best year's work among Janesville Endeavors, and with the zeal manifested in last night's meeting carried throughout the year, their object may be accomplished.

CHAT ABOUT JANESVILLE FOLK
Live Steam in Ashton's Cell.

The moment the corpse of Ashton, the victim of smallpox, was taken from the new county jail in Madison, live steam was turned on in the upper room where the ill-fated prisoner had been kept, and in a short time the paint on every inch of the walls, cells, etc., peeled off. Then a thorough cleaning up occurred. Two coats of paint will be applied.

Surprise on Miss Stella Jarvis. Miss Stella Jarvis enjoyed a surprise party which was arranged for her by twenty-five young friends last evening. The young people gathered at Miss Jarvis' home, 110 North Academy street, and spent the time with various games. Supper was served, and shortly after midnight the merry company dispersed.

UP GO FIRE RATES 20 PER CENT. MORE.

JANESVILLE RISKS TO SUFFER
ANOTHER RAISE.

Companies Say they Must Have More Money or Go Out of the Business—A Local Company for the Carrying of Bower City Business Risks Is Under Discussion.

Janesville business men have another chance to fight.

The fire insurance compact is again planning to raise insurance premium under the plea that they must have more money to meet increasing losses or be compelled to retire from business.

Rates were advanced twenty per cent six months ago, the advance working about the same throughout the country, the cash receipts diminishing instead of increasing. It is predicted that the new advance will still further decrease receipts; that people will carry less insurance. Fire Marshal Swenie, of Chicago, says the advance is uncalled for so far as Chicago is concerned, and says the insured fire losses in Chicago during 1893 were $3,200,000, while the premiums paid were $6,000,000. In 1892 the losses were $1,500,000, with six millions received as premiums.

Local Insurance Company Planned.

What is true of Chicago in relation to losses paid and premiums received is more true in Janesville, where the profits to the insurance companies are much greater in comparison. The Chicago syndicate claim that a new schedule is being prepared to affect the whole country and that an advance on all risks of fifteen to thirty per cent. will be demanded, the advance averaging about twenty per cent. This new scheme will strike Janesville pretty hard, and will demand some definite action on the part of property owners. Already there is quiet talk regarding the organization of a mutual insurance company on similar plans as the township companies. President Vankirk of the Business Men's Association, is preparing a plan with this idea in view, and intends to bring it before the association for consideration in the near future.

No city in the country is credited with better fire protection than is Janesville by the board of underwriters. The extraordinary profits of the insurance companies in this city ought to demand and secure lower instead of higher rates.

W. H. HAHN ARRESTED BUT FREE

Well Known Albany Man Was Charged With Selling Liquor.

William J. Hahn, of Albany, who is well known here, was arrested and tried on the charge of illegally selling liquor. For some time Hahn has been running an establishment locally known as "Camp 20." Hahn was acquitted. William Wall was also arrested on the same charge, but was taken to Monroe for trial. Wall has been running a club room and was said to be doing more business than "Camp 20." The temperance people are having nothing to do with the fight, as the trouble all seems to be between the two proprietors. Hahn is the only man who ever made T. T. Croft take a back seat as a teller of war stories and during the late senatorial fight at Madison he defied all the candidates and their supporters to make him keep still. A good many personal reminiscences are a part of Hahn's stock in trade and he tells them in a pleasing way.

C. & N.W. ENGINE MEN MADE MAD BY WATER

ARTESIAN PUTS SCALES ON THE BOILERS.

It's Good For Every Other Purpose But Contains too Much Mineral to a Be Successful Raw Material For Steam—Business Is Much Lighter Than Last Year.

Janesville artesian water is very good for all ordinary purposes, such as a substitute for Pabst beer and for general domestic use, but when it comes to using it in a boiler it isn't so good. The Chicago & Northwestern Company use it in the Janesville water tanks and profanity as a confirmed habit, is on the increase among the engineers. The water will boil all right and it will make as good steam as any, but there is too much magnesia in it and ere long the "innards" of the boiler becomes choked with scales and then they have a great time getting them out. Prof. Smith in his analysis of the water says that it is excellent for all uses except that of making steam and the railroad men will bear him out.

Engineer John Baker, of the Chicago & Northwestern was using a road engine for switching this morning, the switch engine being laid up until it could be "scaled."

Business Is Very Light.

Business on the railroads is light. During the depression some fifty engineers have been "set back to firing" and the same number of firemen have been laid off. At this time last year business was booming and blockades of the Janesville yards were very frequent. Now this is all changed and while there is about so much work to do all the time, the contrast of the two winters is a painful one.

James Young, the district freight and passenger agent of the Northern Pacific, and W. W. Winton, district freight agent of the St. Paul road were in town today.

Mrs. Frank Billings is dangerously ill and her husband, who is working with the Chicago & Northwestern bridge gang at Chicago has been summoned by telegraph.

Engineer John Crowley is now running a passenger between Janesville and Chicago.

(Copyright, 1893, by J. B. Lippincott & Co., and published by special arrangement.)

"Odd," said Mr. Pepper, as they had grown to call him, "I heard that sung by a fellow up in Chartres street two nights hand-running before this thing happened—a merry cuss, too, with a rather loose hand on his shekels. Lots of people may know it, though, mayn't they?"

"No, indeed, not down here," said Sam. "It only came out in New York within the last four months, and hasn't been south or west at all, that I know of. What did he look like?"

"Well, what did the fellow that was with you look like?"

But here Sam's description grew vague. So Pepper went up to have a beer by himself at the cafe chantant on Chartres street, and didn't return for nearly a week.

Meantime came this exquisite April morning and Sam's appearance in the pony phaeton in front of Battery "X." Even the horses seemed to prick up their ears and be glad to see him. Grim old war sergeants rode up to touch their caps and express the hope that they'd soon have the lieutenant in command of the right section again "not but what Loot'n't Ferry's doing first-rate, sir"—and for a few minutes, as his fair chariot drove him around the battery, in his weak, languid voice Waring indulged in a little of his own characteristic chaffing:

"I expect you to bring this section up to top notch, Mr. Ferry, as I am constitutionally opposed to any work on my own account. I beg to call your attention, sir, to the fact that it's very bad form to appear with full dress schabraque on your horse when the battery is in fatigue. The red blanket, sir, the red blanket only should be used. Be good enough to stretch your traces there, right caisson. Yes, I thought so, swing trace is twisted. Carelessness, Mr. Ferry, and indifference to duty are things I won't tolerate. Your cheek strap, too, sir, is an inch too long. Your bit will fall through that horse's mouth. This won't do, sir, not in my section, sir. I'll fine you a box of Partagas if it occurs again."

But the blare of the bugle sounding "attention" announced the presence of the battery commander. Nell whipped up in an instant and whisked her invalid out of the way.

"Good morning, Capt. Cram," said he, as he passed his smiling chief. "I regret to observe, sir, that things have been allowed to run down somewhat in my absence."

"Oh, out with you, you combination of cheek and incapacity, or I'll run you down with the whole battery. Oh! Waring, some gentlemen in a carriage have just stopped at your quarters, all in black, too. Ah, here's the orderly now."

And the card, black bordered, handed into the phaeton, bore a name which blanched Waring's face:

M. Philippe Lascelles,

N'le Orleans.

"Why, what is it, Waring?" asked Cram, anxiously, bending down from his saddle.

For a moment Waring was silent. Mrs. Cram felt her own hand trembling.

"Can you turn the battery over to Ferry and come with me?" asked the lieutenant.

"Certainly. Bugler, report to Lieut. Ferry and tell him I shall have to be absent for awhile. Drive on, Nell."

When, five minutes later, Waring was assisted up the stairway, Cram towering on his right, the little party came upon a group of strangers—three gentlemen, one of whom stepped courteously forward, raising his hat in a black-gloved hand. He was of medium height, slender, erect and soldierly in bearing; his face was dark and oval, his eyes large, deep and full of light. He spoke mainly in English, but with marked accent, and the voice was soft and melodious.

"I fear I have intrude. Have I the honor to address Lieut. Waring? I am Philippe Lascelles."

For a moment Waring was too amazed to speak. At last, with brightening face and holding forth his hand, he said:

"I am most glad to meet you—to know that it was not you who drove down with us that night."

"Alas, no! I left Armand but that very morning, returning to Havana, thence going to Santiago. It was not until five days ago the news reached me. It is of that stranger I come to ask."

It was an odd council gathered there in Waring's room in the old barracks that April morning while Ferry was drilling the battery to his heart's content and the infantry companies were wearily going over the manual or bayonet exercise. Old Brax had been sent for, and came. M. Lascelles' friends, both, like himself, soldiers of the south, were presented, and for their information Waring's story was again told, with only most delicate allusion to certain incidents which might be considered as reflecting on the character and dignity of the elder brother. And then Philippe told his. True, there had been certain transactions between Armand and himself. He had fully trusted his brother, a man of affairs, with the management of the little inheritance which he, a soldier, had no idea how to handle, and Armand's business had suffered greatly by the war. It was touching to see how in every word the younger strove to conceal the fact that the elder had misapplied the securities and had been practically faithless to his trust. Everything, he declared, had been finally settled as between them that very morning before his return to Havana. Armand had brought to him early all papers remaining in his possession and had paid him what was justly due. He knew, however, that Armand was now greatly embarrassed in his affairs. They had parted with fond embrace, the most affectionate of brothers. But Philippe had been seeing and hearing enough to make him gravely apprehensive as to Armand's future, to know that his business was rapidly going down-hill, that he had been raising money in various ways, speculating, and had fallen into the hands of sharpers, and yet Armand would not admit it, would not consent to accept help or to use his younger brother's property in any way. "The lawyer," said Philippe, "informed me that Beau Rivage was heavily mortgaged, and it is feared that there will be nothing left for madame and Nin Nin, though, for that matter, they shall never want." What he had also urged, and he spoke with reluctance here, and owned it only because the detectives told him it was now well known, was that Armand had of late been playing the role of galant homme, and that the woman in the case had fled. Of all this he felt, he said, bound to speak fully, because in coming here with his witnesses to meet Lieut. Waring and his friends he had two objects in view. The first was to admit that he had accepted as fact the published reports that Lieut. Waring was probably his brother's slayer; had hastened back to New Orleans to demand justice or obtain revenge; had here learned from the lawyers and police that there were other and much more probable theories, having heard only one of which he had cried: "Enough," and had come to pray the forgiveness of Mr. Waring for having believed an officer and a gentleman guilty of so foul a crime. Second, he had come to invoke his aid in running down the murderer. Philippe was affected almost to tears.

"There is one question I must beg to ask monsieur," said Waring, as the two clasped hands. "Is there not still a member of your family who entertains the idea that it was I who killed Armand Lascelles?"

And Philippe was deeply embarrassed.

"Ah, monsieur," he answered, "I could not venture to intrude myself upon a grief so sacred. I have not seen madame, and who is there who could—who would—tell her of Armand's?" And Philippe broke off abruptly, with despairing shrug, and outward wave of his slender hand.

"Let us try to see that she never does know," said Waring. "These are the men we need to find: the driver of the cab, the stranger whose name sounded so like yours, a tall, swarthy, black-haired, 'black-eyed' fellow with pointed mustache—"

"C'est lui! c'est bien lui!" exclaimed Lascelles—"the very man who insisted on entering the private office where, Armand and I, we close our affairs that morning. His whispered words make my brother all of pale, and yet he go off humming to himself."

"Oh, we'll nail him," said Cram. "Two of the best detectives in the south are on his trail now."

And then came Ananias with a silver tray, champagne and glasses (from Mrs. Cram), and the conference went on another hour before the guests went off.

"Bless my soul!" said Brax, whose diameter seemed in no wise increased by the quart of Roederer he had swallowed with such gusto—"bless my soul! and to think I believed that we were going to have a duel with some of those fellows a fortnight or so ago!"

Then entered "Pills" and ordered Waring back to bed. He was sleeping placidly when, late that evening, Reynolds and Cram came tearing up the stairway, full of great news; but the doctor said not to wake him.

Meantime, how fared it with that bruised reed, the lone widow of the late Lieut. Doyle? Poor old Jim had been laid away with military honors under the flag at Chalmerte, and his faithful Bridget was spending the days in the public calaboose. Drunk and disorderly was the charge on which she had been arraigned, and, though she declared herself abundantly able to pay her fine twice over, Mr. Pepper had warned the authorities to keep her under lock and key and out of liquor, as her testimony would be of vital importance, if for nothing better than to send her up for perjury. Now she was alternately weeping, cursing, coaxing, bribing; all to no purpose. The agent of the Lemaitre property had swooped down on the dove cot and found a beggarly array of empty bottles and a good deal of discarded feminine gear scattered about on both floors. One room in which certain detectives were vastly interested contained the unsavory relics of a late supper. Three or four empty champagne bottles, some shattered glasses, and, what seemed most to attract them, various stabs of partially consumed cigarettes, lay about the tables and floor. Adjoining this was the chamber which had been known as Mrs. Dawson's, and this, too, had been thoroughly explored. "Louette, who had disappeared after Doyle's tragic death, was found not far away, and the police thought it but fair that Mrs. Doyle should not be deprived of the services of her maid. Then came other additions, though confined in other sections of the city. Mr. Pepper wired that the party known as M. Philippe had been run to earth and would reach town with him by train about the same time that another of the force returned from Mobile by boat, bringing a young man known as Dawson and wanted as a deserter, and a very sprightly young lady who appeared to move in a higher sphere of life, but was unquestionably his wife, for the officer could prove their marriage in South Carolina in the spring of '65. As Mr. Pepper expressed it when he reported to Reynolds: "It's almost a full hand, but, for a fact, it's only a bobtail flesh. We need that cabman to fill it."

"How did you trace Philippes?" asked Reynolds.

"Him? Oh, he was too darned musical. It was—what do you call it?—Flure de Tay that did for him. Why, he's the fellow that raised all the money and most of the bill for this old man Lascelles. He'd been sharpening him for years."

"Well, when can we bring this thing to a head?" asked the aide-de-camp.

"Poco tiempo! by Saturday, I reckon."

But it came sooner.

Waring was seated one lovely evening in a low reclining chair on Mrs. Cram's broad gallery, sipping contentedly at the fragrant tea she had handed him. The band was playing, and a number of children were chasing about in noisy glee. The men were at supper, the officers, as a rule, at mess. For several minutes the semi-restored invalid had not spoken a word. In one of his customary day-dreams he had been calmly gazing at the shapely white hand of his hostess, "all queenly with its weight of rings."

"Will you permit me to examine those rings a moment?" he asked.

"Why, certainly. No, you sit still, Mr. Waring," she replied, promptly rising, and, pulling them off her fingers, dropped them into his open palm. With the same dreamy expression on his clear-cut, pallid face, he turned them over and over, held them up to the light, finally selected one exquisite gem, and then, half rising, held forth the others. As she took them and still stood beside his chair as though patiently waiting, he glanced up.

"Oh, beg pardon. You want this, I suppose?" and, handing her the dainty teacup, calmly slipped the ring into his waistcoat-pocket and languidly murmured: "Thanks."

"Well, I like that."

"Yes? So do I, rather better than the others."

"May I ask what your purpose doing with my ring?"

"I was just thinking. I've ordered a new Amidon for Larkin, a new ninety-dollar suit for Ferry, and I shall be decidedly poor this month, even if we recover Merton's watch."

"Oh, well, if it's only to pawn one, why not take a diamond?"

"But it isn't."

"What then, pray?"

"Well, again I was just thinking—whether I could find another to match this up in town, or send this one—to her."

"Mr. Waring! Really?" And now Mrs. Cram's bright eyes are dancing with eagerness and delight.

For all answer, though his own eyes begin to moisten and swim, he draws from an inner pocket a dainty letter, postmarked from a far, far city to the northeast.

Catarrh In The Head.

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many very severe cases of catarrh. Catarrh oftentimes leads to consumption. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is too late.

I have been bothered with catarrh for about twenty years; I had lost sense of smell entirely, and had almost lost my hearing. My eyes were getting so dim that I had to get some one to thread my needle. Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had, and I can see to thread as fine a needle as I ever did; my sense of smell is partly restored and it seems to be improving all the time. I think there is nothing like Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh. Mrs. E. F. Grimes, Rendell, Perry Co., O.

Catarrh

AND COLD IN THE HEAD

relieved instantly by one application of Birney's Catarrh Powder

REV. FATHER CLARK, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes:

GENTLEMEN:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh, which nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good sales speak most encouragingly of their use. I am in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy I help others who are suffering.

M. E. FRIEDMAN, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores, Chicago, writes:

GENTLEMEN:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years, and getting no relief from many so-called cures, which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrh Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick plainly, it being held 18 inches from my ear. I look upon it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve.

That disease that is so common in this climate, and that leads to such a variety of diseases such as consumption, bronchitis, asthma and a long line of minor complaints, yields readily to Dr. McChesney's skillful treatment. His blood remedies for catarrh in connection with his local treatment invariably brings relief and the worst cases are permanently cured. This of course requires time, and especially where the disease is deep seated and chronic, as is often the case, but if the patient will take the time and carefully follow the treatments a cure is almost absolute.

If you are suffering from any of the diseases which Dr. McChesney makes a Specialty you should lose no time in consulting him

The Sheep Industry.

There are 47,273,553 sheep in the United States, worth $125,909,264, an average value of about $2.75. We do not know how much capital is invested in sheep farms, etc. The wool product in 1890 was 276,000,000 pounds, the mean price of which was 33 cents; the total value thus being $92,000,000. We have no record of the value of sheep used for food. Almost no part of the cost of wool is labor. Sheep may be raised with very little care on land good for no other purpose, and the amount brought in by selling the wool is almost clear profit so far as the item of labor is concerned. In 1890 the capital invested in woolen mills was $320,417,304. The wages paid in the same year were $76,767,871; the products were valued at $338,221,109; that is, about 23 per cent of the value of the products are represented by the labor.

A Giant Pulley.

The giant of the pulley family is now doing service at the Williamamtic thread mills, Williamamtic Manufacturing company, Connecticut. This monster wheel is twenty-eight feet in diameter and weighs seventy tons. The face of the wheel, which is made for a series of belts, each separated by a "rib," is nine feet across. It was cast in twenty-six parts, including the hub. The metal in the spokes alone weighs 36,000 pounds and that in the rim, which is in segments, each segment carrying a spoke, weighs 96,000 pounds. The twenty-six pieces of this gigantic piece of mechanism are fastened together with 180 bolts of varying lengths and size.

Liquor-Sellers Die Fast.

An Edinburgh life insurance man says that the largest mortality rate in indoor occupations is found among liquor-sellers. Among 1,000 sellers he found the average mortality to be 29.2.

In Japan and Corea.

When the Japanese and the Koreans "hitch" a horse they do so by tying his fore feet together. Hitching posts are never used in either Corea or Japan except by foreigners.
